Astronaut Killed in Plane Crash

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) -
An American astronaut who said he wanted to be first on the moon and specialized in the craft that will make the trip was killed Thursday when his T38 jet trainer plowed into a hilltop near the Florida-Georgia border.

Marine Corps Maj. Clifton C.
Williams Jr., 35, a member of the nation's third generation of astronauts, was flying alone
from Cape Kennedy to Houston Manned Space Center by way of Mobile, Ala., where his father was reported ill.

Williams radiated the distress
mayday signal about 2 p.m., and 10 minutes later a helicopter rescue crew from Moody
Air Force Base at nearby Valdosta, Ga., arrived at the scene
on a plantation near Micoos-kee, Fla., 15 miles north of here.

"The plane disintegrated and the body disintegrated with it,"
said Air Force Maj. Joe Johnson of Moody.

Johnson said the fiery plane
dove down so straight it singed trees but plunged between pines 100 feet apart without touching them.

A board of inquiry headed by the first American spaceman, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard, was named to investigate the crash by James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The closest Williams came to rocketing into space was as backup pilot for last year's Gemini 10 mission. Since then he had specialized in working on the Lunar Module, the craft that is to carry two Apollo astronauts to a landing on the moon.

Like the other astronauts, Williams was eager for space flight.

"I'd like to go on every one,"
Williams had said. "Of course,
if you said which mission I would most like to have, I'd say the first lunar flight you can make from the standpoint of personal satisfaction and accomplishment."

Williams had been scheduled to spend Thursday at the Grumman plant in Bethpage, N.Y., where the Lunar Module was under construction. A spokesman at the space center said Williams flew instead to Grumman's plant Wednesday, and went to Cape Kennedy Thursday
for an astronaut's meeting.

But the Cape Kennedy meeting was canceled, sending him on the flight which ended in his death.

Municipal Court.

To keep the boys from getting police records, Judge Adlow dismissed the charges with the provision that they sell the 25
tickets at face value within the court building.

Stops Man From Suicide Leap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -
Sliding down a Golden Gate Bridge cable like a firehouse pole, Charles Radford reached and stopped a despondent mechanic from a suicide leap, authorities said.

Officers told it this way: Radford, an off-duty fireman, saw a man staring through a girder gap at the water 220 feet below.
After reaching him, Radford ordered, "Go up that cable or you're going in the bay."

The man obeyed.

It happened Tuesday night as Radford was driving to his home in nearby Marin County.
Radford said he later started thinking of that 220 foot drop to the water under the cable where he clung momentarily.

"I started shaking so hard I could hardly keep driving on home," Radford said.

Anti-Poverty
Bill Faces
House Fight

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - The
administration's antipoverty bill has cleared the Senate with surprising ease but backers expect a far stiffer fight in the House.

The $4.66 billion, two-year extension of President Johnson's so-called "War on Poverty"
drew strong bipartisan backing
on Thursday's showdown vote
after 11 days of debate.

The 60-21 tally sent the measure to the House where a quarreling Education and Labor Committee already is at work
on it.

In addition to anticipated efforts in the House to slash the bill's total, a bid to break up the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the program, also is expected.

The Senate-passed total is equivalent to $155 over a two-year period for each of the 30 million Americans the administration says live in poverty.

Forty-one Democrats and 19
Republicans supported the extension bill and 9 Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against it.

The 39-vote margin represented a bigger majority than Senate antipoverty legislation won in 1965, when the vote was 61 to 29, or in 1966 when it was 49 to 20. The bill only authorizes the program. Separate legislation appropriating funds is under consideration.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., floor manager for the bill, said he was glad the Senate had given the bill some "wiggle room"
by setting the OEO authorization for the present year at $2,258 billion, or $198 million more than Johnson asked.

Clark said this offers the opportunity for compromises with the House.

The Senate bill would provide funds for all present antipoverty projects including the Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Community Action-
which covers such programs as Head Start for preschool children-rural loans and aid to migrant workers plus assistance
for small business in poverty-stricken areas.

The measure also contains several new features, such as day care for children of working mothers, a followup program to Head Start, incentives to private companies to train the hard-core unemployed and authority for local Community Action agencies to decide how half of the more than $1 billion allocated to Community Action
shall be spent.

Father of Six Gets Parole

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Eddie Smothers, 27, of West Memphis, sentenced to two years in prison
for stealing two bottles of butane gas to heat his home, was one of 98 convicts paroled
Wednesday by the state Pardon
and Parole Board.

Smothers is the father of six children. Parole Office records show he was arrested last December for stealing the gas
from his employer in November, and that he was convicted of grand larceny Feb. 10.

Smothers, a truck driver prior to his arrest, will be released later this month to work for a West Memphis service station operator.

New Fiscal System Not
Up to Par

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Arkansas' new fiscal control system seems not to be what some thought it would be, but Clarence E. Frost, consultant for the state Administration Department, has described the malady
as "a symptom of any new system."

Prison SKUPT. Thomas O. Muton and state Auditor Jimmie
"Red" Jones both complained this week of an increase in paper work and a delay in requisitions.

Jones said Thursday his office had to write 20,000 more warrants the first three months of this fiscal year than it did during the same period year ago.
He said many agencies had complained to him about the additional paper work.

Morton complained to the state Penitentiary Board Wednesday that it was difficult to obtain supplies quickly. He said separate purchase orders, vouchers and checks had to be written for each of three hammers because they were to be used on different projects at Tucker Prison Farm.

Frost conceded Thursday that the multiplicity of vouchers required under the new system had become a problem, but he said a systems analyst in the Administration Department had developed solutions to this and smaller problems arising from the new system.

The new system, developed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.,
for the Administration Department, went into effect July 1.
The operation of each agency
is divided into separate activities.

A training school, for example, may have such activities
as administration, instruction, maintenance, etc. Records are kept separately on them.

Frost said the problem was
"symptom of any new system that has been operation only a few months."

War Plants
Influencing
War Opinion?

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen.
George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a critic of the Vietnam war, says some senators from states with big defense industries are feeling the prod to support the war, but he does not pinpoint who is doing the prodding.

"I don't say they don't believe what they're saying" about the war, Aiken said in an interview.
"But some of our boys are under pressure." He did not elaborate.

Two other war critics said
Thursday in separate statements that a "military-industrial complex" was dominant in U.S. affairs.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in Senate debate on the billion-dollar programs for space and development of a supersonic transport at a "large military-industrial complex" dominates Congress.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy,
D-Minn., like Fulbright and Aiken a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, urged Senate conferees to stand firm on cutbacks in U.S. military aid programs, saying: "All we in the Senate are trying to do is put some kind of limit on the power of the military-industrial complex to control the foreign policy of this nation."

Aiken said the recent flurry of war debate in the Senate is
"just good politics."

"It's not only getting close to the election but close to campaign contribution time," he said. "States like California and Washington depend on the war industry-I think they prefer to call it defense procurement-for a good portion of their economy."

He noted that California Republican Sens. George Murphy and Thomas H. Kuchel, and Washington Democratic Sens.
Henry M. Jackson and Warren
G. Magnuson, are vocal supporters of the war.

But referring to war policy
criticism from Republican Sens.
Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Aiken said: "Kentucky doesn't have much defense industry,
does it?"

None of the senators Aiken discussed was immediately available for comment on his remarks.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., told a newsman he sees no likelihood Republicans-some of whom are from big defense-industry states-will totally agree on a Vietnam policy for the 1968 presidential campaign.

Percy said it's too early to tell whether a lack of total agreement on Vietnam would pose problems for the Republicans in their efforts to win the presidency.

Percy's course has brought him into conflict with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, his senior colleague from Illinois, the Senate GOP leader and the likely chairman of the 1968 Republican platform-writing committee.

Non-Public Schools Lose
State Aid

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - The
New Hampshire Supreme Court ruled today that parochial and nonpublic schools cannot share
in state sweepstakes profits.

In a 4-1 decision, the court voted a state law that would have allowed the parochial and nonpublic schools to share in the sweepstakes profits.

"Since parochial and other religiously oriented schools appear to predominate among the nonpublic schools which are sought to be aided (by the new law)," the court said, "the major part of the scheme cannot be carried into effect because of the constitutional prohibition (against public aid to religious institutions)."

Home of

Head Bombed

TOUGALOO, Miss. (AP) - A bomb today damaged the home of the executive dean of predominantly Negro Tougaloo College. No one was injured.

Dr. William Bush, who is white, and his wife were asleep
in the small brick house.

The blast shattered windows,
blew out the double rear door
and knocked away the eaves.
Authorities said the bombing apparently was a "high order explosive," similar to dynamite.
College officials declined to comment immediately.

"We're all a little befuddled
now," said Dr. George Owens, president of Tougaloo.

Rays of hope have replaced the blight of slums in some parts of Washington, D.C., where run-down residential districts have long cast a shadow over
the nation's capital.
Some of the most im-

been in the Southwest

Thirteen years ago it

THE SEEDS OF CHANGE were sown as areas like the one above became more and more in evidence in the Southwest, within sight of the Capitol. Top photograph shows the area of redevelopment, which transformed the Southwest into a showplace of high rise apartment houses with a wide range of rental costs, and an assortment of other modernistic buildings, including two churches and a new library.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

IN DEFENSE OF PLAYBOY CONVENTIONERS

Dear Helen: So husbands go wild at conventions! The truth is the women these so-called playboys get cozy with aren't usually "professionals" wrapped in mink. More often they are wives of other men, looking for a night out and some fun. Or else they're girls who seldom have dates unless there's an oversupply of men.

We who travel a lot know that women (generally married) are available at every convention bar. For the woman, it's easy bonus money not offered in the family budget. It's also a few hours of being appreciated by a stranger, when at home, she is treated like just another piece of furniture. She makes the man feel special; he can lie, brag, spend, and be a big shot to someone who won't belittle him. In return, she doesn't have to worry that the money being spent should be used to pay her bills or buy the kids shoes. And she begins to feel special too.

When a man picks up a woman at a convention, he's king, and she's queen for a night. I don't say it's right, but it's a fair exchange, and one is no more to blame than the other. The man or woman who is satisfied at home won't stray far, but those who aren't took to conventions for the ego-building they don't get elsewhere. Who knows, they might even be better mates for having wandered. —BUSINESSMAN

Dear Man: I doubt the stay-at-home male will agree with you. But, as you say, if she—or he—keeps the home fires on the front burner, the problem won't arise. —H

Dear Helen: Our son has been married three years. To date his wife has found no term of address for us other than, "Hey you." When she writes to us, she has no salutation at all, not even "Dear Folks." Her parents are living, which rules out Mother and Dad.

This may seem like nit-picking, but we feel like nonentities. Is there a tactful way to tell her we'd like names? —A MOTHER IN LAW

Dear M in L: Often a daughter-in-law is as much at a loss

Red Balloons Help Music

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A roomful of red balloons is a great place to listen to music.

That's what two physicists at the University of California say after experimenting with about 20 bright balloons in a reverberation chamber filled with concert music.

Prof. Vern O. Knudsen and Leo P. Delsasso said Wednesday the helium-filled balloons scatter sound waves in a way that would envelop the audience at a concert hall.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Real baseball fans have a tendency to scoff at the capacity crowds that turn out for World Series games, contending that most of the people are there—and a lot of them occupying the best seats—just because it is a spectacle, not for love of the game. The spectacle-lovers apparently abandon their soap operas and game shows in television, too, at World Series time, since a quick Nielsen check of the metropolitan New York area audience during Wednesday's opening game showed that 65 per cent of all sets in use were turned in on NBC's report of the goings-on in Boston.

The network concentrated lots of cameras, plenty of experts and statisticians for the opening game and acquitted itself handsomely. The color was good, the commentators restrained themselves from gabbing when the action slowed down. But the game itself was pretty much of a pitching duel which enchants the baseball fans but can be a bit of a drag for the World Series-watcher who can take base ball or leave it alone—and really prefers the latter.

What we nonfans enjoy is plenty of hitting and sliding and howling from the audience. When its mostly pitching, the game seems to move as slowly as the plot of a day-time serial.

Another of the quickie Nielsen reports on national viewing preferences—this one covering the week of Sept. 18—shows that the public still prefers feature film broadcasts to anything else on the television schedules. Five of the movie nights landed in the list of the 10 most popular programs.

Top show of the week was Rock Hudson-Doris Day film: "Send Me No Flowers," on NBC, and CBS's broadcast of "The Apartment" was in third place. Among television programs—not including broadcasts of old movies—in the top 10 list were CBS's "Come Fly With Me" and "Andy Griffith Show," NBC's "Bonanza" and the "Bob Hope Comedy Special" and CBS's "Lucy Show."

Yaz Called Shot, Though Only Kidding

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Lonborg, the big men on the Boston Red Sox, are a couple of pleasant fellows who like to kid with people, even going so far as making predictions in jest.

Now their crystal ball forecasts are virtually coming true in the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was kidding around and told someone I would hit two homers and get three hits today — but I was only kidding," Yastrzemski said Thursday after the Red Sox squared the Series at one game apiece with a 5-0 victory in Boston.

Lonborg joked about pitching a no-hitter before he took the mound for the second game.

Yastrzemski, the American League's Triple Crown champion, made good on his prediction, belting a pair of homers, good for four runs batted in, and then singling in the eighth.

Lonborg just missed on his prediction, losing a no-hit bid on Julian Javier's two out double in the eighth inning. Gentleman Jim had to settle for a one-hitter, only the fourth in World Series history.

For a while, it looked as if Lonborg would match Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game in a 2-0 victory for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956.

Yaz connected for his first Series blast by lining a low fast ball into the right field stands for a 1-0 Boston lead in the fourth.

"It was a good pitch, but I hit it just right," the slugging outfielder said. "I felt good, real sharp."

The Cardinals' scouting report apparently missed something on Yastrzemski.

With runners on first and second and one out in the seventh, southpaw Joe Hoerner was summoned from the bullpen to pitch to Boston's left swinger. Yaz promptly unloaded on a 2-2 pitch and sent a booming shot into the bleachers beyond the Boston bullpen in right center.

In a similar situation just last Saturday, the Minnesota Twins called on southpaw ace Jim Merritt to face Yaz in the seventh inning. The result: a three-run homer in a 6-4 victory.

Lonborg, a 24-year-old right-hander, just missed reaching the only goal that he failed to accomplish during a 22-9 regular season.

"The no-hitter is the one goal that has eluded me during this fabulous season," the lanky hurler said. "I pitched in the

All-Star game, I won 20 and I pitched in the World Series. I'll get that no-hitter some day.

"I was joking about the no-hitter and going for it after we got that 5-0 lead," he said. "Then when Javier hit that hanging slider, it was agony for me — like someone sticking a knife through me, I was sick."

"Then Ellie (catcher Eldon Howard) came out and told me to bear down. He said we had two outs and let's get the next batter."

Scouting Report Aids Boston Club

By BEN BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox said the scouting reports on the St. Louis Cardinals worked perfectly Thursday.

"We knew what we should have done Wednesday," he said, "but we didn't do it."

The Red Sox whipped St. Louis 5-0 Thursday in Boston to even the 1967 World Series at a game apiece.

Manager Red Schoendienst of the National League champions said he planned no changes in his line-up for the third game. Williams had revamped the Boston line-up after the Red Sox dropped the first game 2-0.

In the St. Louis dressing room Thursday, there was more talk about Carl Yastrzemski's two homers than the brilliant one-hitter pitched by Jim Lonborg.

Dick Hughes, the starting Cardinal pitcher and second game loser, described Yastrzemski's first blast, a drive into the right field corner, this way:

"He hit a fast ball. I got the pitch about where I wanted it. You might say it was a half mistake and he made it a whole mistake."

The 29-year-old Hughes, a rookie, wasn't as sharp as normal, Schoendienst said. "And he tired some just before I took him out," the Cardinal skipper said.

Red Sox manager Williams said he wasn't concerned about the pressure of bouncing back from the first game loss.

"You should have been here during the season if you wanted to see some pressure," he said. Lonborg and Yastrzemski combined to give Boston a victory over Minnesota and the American League pennant on the last day of the season.

Elston Howard, a veteran of many World Series with the New York Yankees, said he called the pitch that Lonborg threw to Julian Javier and which was driven into the left field corner for a solid double. Javier's blow was the only St. Louis hit.

"I was kidding around and told someone I would hit two homers and get three hits today — but I was only kidding," Yastrzemski said Thursday after the Red Sox squared the Series at one game apiece with a 5-0 victory in Boston.

Lonborg Just Misses for a No-Hitter

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Lonborg woke up today and knew he was on the road for real. Carl Yastrzemski woke up and knew how good it felt to be able to sleep without taking a sleeping pill.

Collectively, the Boston Red Sox knew how it felt to be even with the St. Louis Cardinals again in the World Series.

The Red Sox pulled even at 1-1 Thursday by whipping the Cardinals 5-0 in Boston behind the one-hit pitching of Lonborg and the two-homer slugging of Yastrzemski.

The teams then moved to St. Louis where the Series will resume Saturday with Gary Bell, 13-13, pitching for the Red Sox and Nelson Briles, 14-5 going for the Cardinals.

Lonborg produced his masterpiece — he retired the first 19 batters he faced and didn't allow a hit until Julian Javier doubled with two out in the eighth — after forsaking his own bed again for a room at a downtown Boston hotel.

Yastrzemski, on the other hand, slept in his own bed Wednesday night, but he had to take a pill to get to sleep.

"I just wanted to make sure I got a good night's sleep," explained Lonborg, who did the same thing last Saturday night before pitching the pennant-clinching game against Minnesota.

He stayed at the hotel both times because he wanted to simulate road conditions. On the road there's no one to bother him the night before he pitches, and his record has shown the difference. At home this season he was 8-5, on the road 14-4.

Yastrzemski has his own sleeping problems.

"I'm a little nervous when I'm trying to go to sleep and sometimes I take a sleeping pill," explained the American League's Triple Crown winner who exploded from a hitless first game to a three-hit, four-run-batted-in second game.

"I took a pill last night, and I had nine hours of sleep," Yastrzemski said Thursday. "I won't need one tonight because we don't play tomorrow."

As nervous as he is away from the ball park — "I'm very nervous when I'm home eating breakfast" — Boston's brilliant left fielder is completely calm once he reaches the playing site.

Before the second game of the Series, Yastrzemski passed up on batting practice because he had taken 20 minutes postgame bat work the day before. Instead, he climbed onto the trainer's table and took a 45-minute nap.

"When I don't take batting practice, I usually take a nap," he said. "The trainer woke me up at about a quarter to 12, and I felt great."

The Cardinals didn't feel too good a couple of hours later when Yastrzemski socked a 380-foot bases-empty homer in the

Bobkittens Lose Thriller to Texarkana

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Facing a junior high team that is unbeaten over the past six years in Class AAA, the Hope Bobkittens played an outstanding ball game in losing 35-20 to the Piggies of Texarkana Jefferson Avenue at Hammons Stadium last night.

Trailing 28-0 late in the second period, the Kittens gave an inspiring performance of enthusiasm and attitude while outscoring the Piggies 20-7 for the rest of the contest. Bobkitten Head Coach Caylord Solomon had a fantastic job with the Hope boys, because they showed the fight and team spirit of champions, even to the final whistle.

Fullback Sidney Waller scored two TD's for Hope, as the Kittens moved to paydirt in each of the last three quarters. The other score was on a 16-yard run by Stan James on a double reverse. The scoring, though, is not what mattered in last evening's game.

The Bobkitten line, outmaneuvered and outweighed by the much larger school from Texarkana, never would quit, not even when knocked to the ground by a Jefferson Ave. player. Our linemen showed a good example of winning spirit that comes only from good coaching, as these boys stood up and gave their best.

This was most probably the last meeting between the two schools, even though Hope came out on top in the statistical sheets by moving the ball very consistently in the second half as well as the first. All of JA's touchdowns were scored on plays of over 25 yards, as the larger school showed their superiority in the early moments. A degree of comparison shows that Jefferson Avenue Junior High pitched to Hope a 165-member pep squad and an 80-strong band, and Hope High School itself does not have such organizations with such size.

After the game Coach Solomon was disappointed in the defeat as in any defeat, but stated that the boys showed that they were not quitters, battling it out throughout the whole game to the best of their ability.

There will be two 8th grade games scheduled in the next couple of days, both to be played at Hammons Stadium. Saturday the opponent is Prescott, with game time set for 9:30 a.m., and on Tuesday the 8th grader's host is Magnolia team, at 4:30 p.m.

Leading rushers for the Bobkittens were workhorse Gary Jones, who ran the pigskin 22 times for 118 yards; Sidney Waller had 16 carries for 60 yards, and Stan James carried 10 times for 58 yards. Denny Cowling led the Piggies' ball carriers with 92 yards on four trips.

Homecoming Tonight With Crossett Foe

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Tonight is Homecoming for the Hope Bobcats, and the Crossett Eagles will be invading our fair city to try to spoil it, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on the Hammons Stadium turf.

There is a lot riding on the battle; pride, confidence, and of course, the Homecoming royalty. The Bobcats will be mentally prepared for this one, but so will Crossett. Head Eagles Coach John Pierce coached at HHS for several years before moving to Crossett, and this is his big game of the year.

Let's try to fill Hammons Stadium tonight, as a good home crowd backing the Bobcats is a good step toward victory. Hope will fill the role of the spoiler for this one, and the Bobcats need a big win for the squad itself. Here's why.

Predicted to finish high in Region 4-AA, Hope has a 2-3 record presently, and the Cats have a two-game losing streak going. The following is a plea to certain folks you may know. As a citizen of Hope, Arkansas, please do not give up on the team you are supporting with the season only half gone. Our team needs the backing and the enthusiasm that overflows the Stadium capacity.

In the unusual place of being x-williams identified with the team as well as the fans, this writer is close to the Bobcats and the coaching staff. Each one of the coaches Hope has is outstanding in character and tops in the ability to lead boys and teach them good sound football. The team has confidence in the staff, but the fans must take to heart the fact that these fine people are only human, and they make mistakes just like Vince Lombardi and his Green Bay Packers occasionally do. No body is perfect.

Win, lose, or tie, you can bet your bottom dollar that the Hope Bobcats, along with coaches Glaze, Higgins, Lawrence, Solomon, Austin, and White, will be giving their 110 per cent in their fields; and it is hoped that each person in this area will acknowledge that and attend the game at Hammons Stadium tonight.

Kickoff time is set for 7:30, and KXAR will broadcast the game live and direct, with pregame activities beginning at 7:15 p.m.

Coaches Corner

By Freddie Glaze

For those Bobcat fans that followed us to Malvern last week, they saw on the most rockem-sockem football games that we have had in the last four years. The 27-0 score does not indicate what type game it was at all. Our defensive line Jerry McWilliams, Davis Fincher, Billy Gibson, Rodney Jones, John Henley, Jimmy Alford, and Larry McWilliams gave up only 75 yards to the Malvern squad that outweighed him 30 pounds per man.

We told our boys after the game that we felt that every boy gave a 100 per cent and that's exactly what we asked for.

Of course, it hurt each one of us to lose, especially when we felt that we had a good opportunity to win, and I recall very well the play in the game that turned the game around. With 4 and 8 on the 24 yard line, Malvern threw a touchdown pass and was called for clipping. The officials immediately marked off 15 yards from the spot of the foul rather than from the previous spot. Of course it should have been a down and 23 yards to go instead it was 4 down and 2 yards to go. On the next play a quick pass was complete for the first down and John Henley was called for piling on when he was the only man on the tackle. This gave Malvern half the distance to the goal and from there they scored. From that point on there was penalty after penalty. Our boys never had an opportunity to get anything going although we managed to threaten twice. At the end of the game we were on Malvern three-yard line.

From my standpoint on pass defense was pitiful and our defensive line played the best game in my year at Hope.

Our boys are looking forward to Crossett. Every boy realizes the fact that they are the fastest team we have played. They have all the ingredients for a fine football team. Every boy knows that it will take as good an effort as did against Malvern and believe it will be there.

After the statistics were released this week our defensive team was second only to Crossett and that should be enough incentive for any boy that has any pride at all.

This week we've had prou-

Bad-Guess Pitch Loses Series Game

By TED SMITHS
Associated Press Sports Editor
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals can now join Manager Cal Ermer of the Minnesota Twins as a wrong guesser on how to pitch to Carl Yastrzemski.

Both brought in left-handers to face the mighty Boston Red Sox slugger on baseball's old, old theory that a southpaw has a distinct advantage over a left-handed batter.

Yaz proved both wrong by hitting three-run homers. His big blow in last Saturday's key game against the Twins wrapped up the victory 6-4 and sent the Red Sox on the way to League pennant.

His homer Thursday at Boston in the seventh, his second of the game, led the victory for the Sox 5-0 and tied up the Series at one game apiece. The booming 430-foot homer in the Series came off Joe Hoerner who replaced Ron Willis when k az came to bat. His homer last Saturday against the Twins was off Jim Merritt, ace Minnesota reliever.

monia turned ankles, bruised hips etc. and every boy has tuned his thoughts toward Crossett. All of our boys are ready with the exception of Mike Murphy who injured his knee against Malvern

Conference Opener Faces Razorbacks

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

The Arkansas Razorbacks begin what amounts to a new season when they play Texas Christian University at Fayetteville Saturday.

The TCU game will be the Southwest Conference opener for both teams, each of which has an 0-2 record.

TCU controlled the ball against Iowa and Georgia Tech but lost to both teams. The Horned Frogs' top runner is 210-pound Ross Montgomery.

The Razorbacks have given up relatively easy touchdowns to both Oklahoma State University and Tulsa University. That, in addition to the Forkers' lack of success on short yardage situations has contributed greatly to the Razorbacks' two losses.

Frank Broyles announced earlier in the week that he would start sophomore John Elchler at quarterback in place of Ronny South. Elchler, who is a strong runner, took the Razorbacks 64 yards for their second touchdown against Tulsa.

Arkansas 14, TCU 7.

Arkansas State University has an opportunity to impress football fans in Central Arkansas when it plays The Citadel Saturday night.

ASU has won two in a row while its opponent is 2-1, losing to Southern Mississippi. The two teams will play at War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock.

ASU, highly rated in the small College Poll, could have one of its best teams. ASU 17, The Citadel 13.

Arkansas A&M, which has not given up a touchdown in three games, faces its sternest test of the season at Southern University.

AMN's attack features Charles "Monk" Williams who has scored nine touchdowns in three games.

AMN 21, Southern University 17.

The top game in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference will be at Arkadelphia where Arkansas A&M meets Ouachita Baptist University. A&M's goal line is uncrossed but OBU has quarterback Bobby Crouch and end Doug Freese. Both teams need a victory to stay in the conference race.

A&M 7, OBU 3.

Henderson opens its conference season against Southern State at Magnolia. The Mulridders are 1-1 in conference play but will probably be without the services of quarterback Stanley May.

Henderson 14, SSC 10.

Conference Opener Faces Razorbacks

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference is due to pick up a modicum of lost ground in intersectional football this week and it will come as a relief to those who have suffered through its worst start in history.

Five games are scheduled against the outsiders with only Rice idle for the week. Rice already has done its share with unexpected victory over Navy.

Two teams that have seen nothing but defeats thus far this season get together at Fayetteville Saturday afternoon and barring a tie either Texas Christian or Arkansas will feel much better about the situation when the smoke of this conference game has settled.

It's the third game counting in the standings, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech having won the previous two, and the victor in the Ozarks will join them on top of the conference race.

Texas Christian is particularly keen on winning because for eight years in a row the Frogs have bowed to the Razorbacks. Arkansas is just as keen because it would mean the end of one of the poorest starts an Arkansas team ever made.

Intersectionally, Southern Methodist is at Minneapolis to play Minnesota for the first time. It will be an afternoon game.

The other four conference members will play at night with Baylor hosting winless Washington State, Texas A&M meeting victoryless but once-tied Florida State, Texas trying to break into the win column against Oklahoma State at Austin and Tech, all pepped up because of its status as the only unbeaten team in the league and 10th rank in the nation, rolling against Mississippi State, which also is yet to win one this season.

Texas is a 13-point favorite to beat Oklahoma State, Baylor is a 13-point choice over Washington State, Texas A&M is a mild selection over Florida State — about five points — and Texas is given a bulging 18 points over Mississippi State.

This means the conference is expected to win at least four of the five games, which would make the intersectional record at least mediocre. It now rests at two victories against 11 losses.

MIAMI vs. Tulane in Sugar Bowl
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami's sputtering Hurricanes go after their first victory of the season tonight
when they meet Tulane in the Orange Bowl.
Coach Charlie Tate plans to go with junior quarterback David Olivo in an effort to pull the Hurricanes, national ly-ranked in preseason polls,
out of a two-game tallspin.
Tate alternated Olivo with senior Bill Miller in last week's 17-8 upset loss to Penn State.
Miami, off to its worst start since 1964, still rated a 10-point favorite over the Green wave in the top game on a sparse Friday night schedule.
The nation's Big Three—Southern California, Houston
and UCLA—put three-game
winning strings on the line
against Stanford, North Carolina State and Penn State, respectively, in Saturday's headline games.
Miami was upended by Northwestern 12-7 and knocked out of the Top Ten in its season opener
two weeks ago, then bowed to an alert, aggressive Penn State team in the Orange Bowl last Friday night.
Tulane, which dropped its first game to Miami of Ohio 14-3, bounced back last week and walloped North Carolina 36-11.
It was the Green Wave's biggest point spree in seven years.
The Greenies, who tied Miami 10-10 last season at New Orleans, will be seeking their first victory in three trips to the Orange Bowl. They lost 26-7 in 1959 and 21-0 in 1964 at Miami and trail in the series 4-2-1.
Southern Cal's top-ranked Trojans, led by speedster O. J.
Simpson, rate a three-touchdown choice over Pacific 8 foe Stanford Saturday night at Los Angeles. Houston's high-coring Cougars, No. 2 in the nation, are top-heavy favorites to handle visiting N.C. State in another arc-light test.
UCLA's explosive Bruins, with Gary Deban calling the shots, visit Penn State in an afternoon game and No. 4 Purdue, conqueror of Notre Dame last week, entertains Northwestern
in a Big Ten opener.
Fifth-ranked Georgia plays
host to South Carolina; No. 6 Notre Dame rebounds against visiting Iowa; No. 7 Nebraska is at Kansas State; No. 8 Colorado
is at home against Iowa State and No. 9 Alabama takes on visiting Mississippi. No. 10 Texas Tech hosts Mississippi State
in a night game.

One of Those Days . . . Mills Opposes Waterway Charge

This is one of those days — as other small businessmen will understand. Of the Star's 16 staffers 3 are out because of illness. Percentage-wise that doesn't seem important, but it is in a specialized industry like newspapers. As with bookkeepers and machine operators, you can't find one-day replacements for copywriters and tape-punchers. But we've a good crew, and they're doubling up today to cover for fellow workers.

The other day this column was protesting the Johnson administration's attempt to set up a fuel tax charge against shipping using the nation's developing inland waterways.

Now the National Waterways Conference Newsletter of Oct. 2 brings us good news.

Our opposition is shared by Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat who heads the all-powerful House Ways and Means Committee. And with Mr. Mills against it the proposed fuel tax bill doesn't stand much of a chance to reach the floor of Congress. It will stay bottled up in the files of the Ways & Means Committee.

At first glance you might think it inconsistent to demand economy in government and at the same time oppose a 2-cent-a-gallon tax on lowboat fuel which President Johnson says is merely an effort to make users help pay the cost of waterway development. But if you know transport history, and this editor does, then you have the right to suspect Mr. Johnson of using the current cry for economy as an excuse to follow the propaganda line of the lobbyists for the railroads and truck lines—which are fighting to strangle competition from waterway traffic.

Transport has always been aided by government in the construction of roadway. In the beginning the railroads were given millions of acres just to encourage them to lay tracks through the wilderness. So were the nation's highways built without particular expense to commercial truckers.

The Interstate Highway System does levy special taxes upon all highway traffic, but this is not the national highway network but a parallel program, and commercial truckers pay no more relatively than non-commercial private cars do.

The Johnson fuel-tax proposal smells of a cute political trick, slingshotting from the pulpit of governmental economy—but it's a trick which is obvious to every informed observer—the most-informed of all being Wilbur D. Mills.

2 Gambling Clubs Hit in Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Officers raided two Fayetteville clubs Thursday, arrested two persons and confiscated 18 slot machines and two poker tables.

Deputy Prosec. Atty. Richard Wells of Fayetteville said Washington County Sheriff's deputies, State Police and Fayetteville City Police participated in the raids on the Elks Club and the Moose Club.

Officers confiscated 12 slot machines and one poker table at the Elks Club and seized six slots and a poker table at the Moose Club. Wells said.

This Curdle

Cow's Milk UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Spring this on a farmer and see if it doesn't curdle his cow's milk or cause the rooster to crow at midnight.

"An infertile soil and an eutrophic lake will produce less crops, while a fertile soil and a eutrophic lake will produce more crops," says the Pennsylvania Health Department in new scientific jargon.

Eutrophication, actually, is the overfertilization of lakes. This means lakes, as they age, fill up with junk, turn into marshes and eventually disappear.

The department is so intrigued with eutrophication that it scheduled six speeches on the subject at a health conference at Pennsylvania State University.

House Likely to Stand Pat Against Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite another plea from President Johnson and a federal freeze on its pet public works projects, Congress shows no signs of increasing taxes before spending is slashed.

The administration added a new ingredient in the week-long test of wills between the President and Congress by suspending indefinitely some $3.5 billion worth of military building and civil public works programs.

The freeze, announced by the Defense Department, came as Johnson again laid responsibility for budget cutting on the congressional doorstep and said taxes should be raised to stifle inflation.

The public works freeze drew praise from Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as "the kind of thing that's required."

To some congressional observers the freeze appeared an indication Johnson is beginning to yield to pressure that he take responsibility for cutting back or eliminating programs popular with hometown voters.

The stalemate over who should cut spending involves in part the determination by Congress not to be saddled with the blame for such cuts. Byrnes cautioned, however, that the freeze could be lifted at any time since the money for such Army Engineers civil projects as flood-control dams, dikes and harbor improvements already has been appropriated.

"We'll need some assurances this isn't just window dressing," he said in an interview.

Johnson's renewed contention that Congress shouldn't delay action on his tax hike proposal until spending has been cut left apparently unmoved Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee.

Johnson told a hastily called news conference Thursday that failure to enact his tax boost proposal would feed an inflationary spiral he said would ultimately cost taxpayers far more than higher taxes.

Easy to Make Money, Says Man Who Has Tremendous Business

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "It's as easy to make money today, mate, as at any time in history," boomed the confident voice of the world's highest paid Socialist.

"There is plenty of opportunity," continued Leonard J. Matchan, sitting in shirt-sleeved ease in a Fifth Avenue hotel suite as he contentedly absorbed a dry martini.

"But some can see opportunity and some can't. Some have the guts to follow up on opportunities—to have a go at it—and others don't. That's why you have bank clerks and screwballs like me."

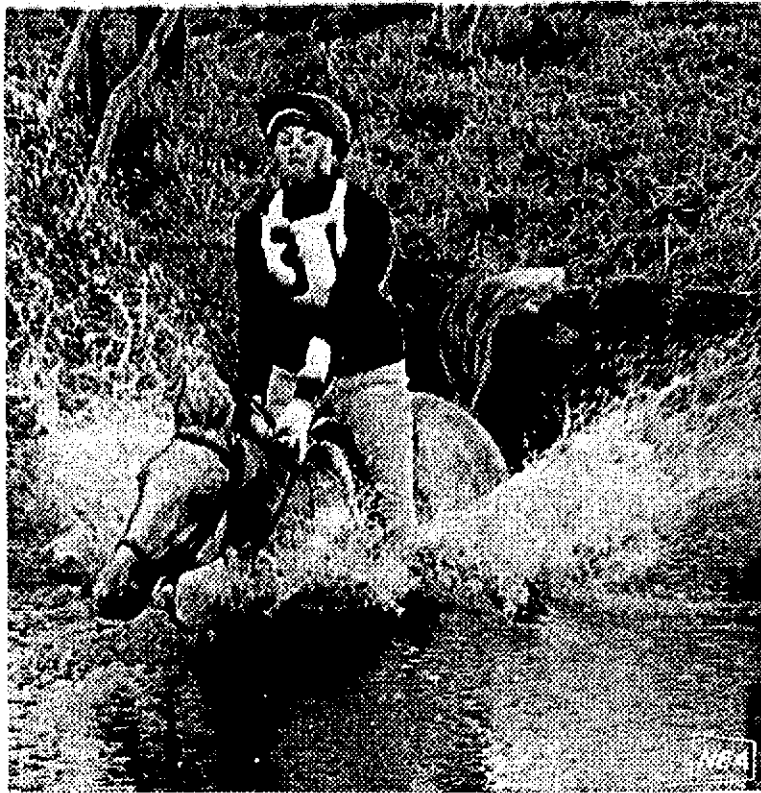

At 56 Matchan has a carnival touch but is certainly no screwball. In Britain as board chairman of Cope Allman International, Ltd., a gigantic holding company, he runs a firm that operates in 74 countries, has 164 subsidiaries, 15,000 employees and does an annual business in the $175-to-$200-million range.

He himself now has a tidy personal income varying between $550,000 and $800,000 yearly.

"It may be hard to reconcile all this with being a Socialist," said Matchan, whose chief disappointment in life is that he once ran for Parliament on the Labor ticket and lost. "But I believe in raising the standard of living for everybody."

The son of a sewing machine repairman, he started raising his own living standard shortly after quitting school at 16 and getting a clerk's job at $2.80 a week.

At nights he studied a correspondence course in accounting and soon began helping work out the tax returns of American film figures such as Adolphe

Negro Last in Memphis Mayor Race

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A. W. Willis, Tennessee's first Negro state legislator in more than half a century, couldn't put together a winning coalition Thursday and failed in a bid to become the first Negro mayor of a major Old South city.

Two men with experience in the job—Incumbent Mayor William Ingram and former Mayor Henry Loeb—made it into the Nov. 2 runoff as Willis trailed fourth in his race against six white candidates.

The final vote in the fairly heavy balloting—attributed to Willis' presence in the race—gave Loeb 47,784 votes to 36,074 for Ingram and 30,979 for Shelby County Sheriff William Shelby. Willis had 15,575.

Willis, twice elected to the state House of Representatives, had been conceded the majority of the Negro vote when the campaign started.

But the final tally showed he failed to hold the Negro vote and was unable to make serious inroads into the traditionally white voting structure.

In a statement conceding defeat, Willis said he was disappointed at the result but added that it could be expected because of "100 years of brainwashing."

Willis said, however, he thought the race had raised questions "which will have to be answered later."

Ingram was the main beneficiary of the Negro vote which swung away from Willis, an attorney, civil rights leader and cofounder and president of a savings and loan association.

Ingram, an attorney, served five years as a city court judge before he was elected mayor in 1963.

Falling Star at Her Feet

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dorothy McClain could hardly believe her eyes when a falling star dropped at her feet in broad daylight.

She said a deputy sheriff's badge fell from a small plane that flew at low altitude. The inscription showed the badge was issued by the Harris County, (Tex.) Air Patrol. It is being mailed to Harris County officials.

Dotsenko came to the University of Alberta a year ago on 10 months' leave from his position as head of the nuclear laboratory at Kiev State University.

He said in an interview that he applied to the Canadian immigration department two months ago and was granted a one-year extension of his stay in Canada, plus a promise that his application for permanent residence here will be considered at the end of the one-year period.

Dotsenko said he had visited from Soviet Embassy officials who attempted to persuade him to return to his home country. He said he had rejected the officials' attempts.

Dotsenko was reported temporarily employed at the nuclear research center at the University of Alberta. He said his reasons for staying in Canada are both professional and political, with the professional reasons the more compelling.

Dotsenko declined to talk about his personal life in the Soviet Union but said his decision to leave his homeland was made only after "much soul-searching."

"The main point is that I am a scientist and in the conditions here in Canada I can work far more effectively. There is a far more . . . well, I am not afraid to use the word—there is a far more democratic approach here."

He said in the Soviet Union there was too much emphasis on nuclear research that would have some immediate, practical effect and not enough on abstract research—research for the purpose of expanding the body of knowledge in a field, regardless of "practical" results.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., backed by the potent Appropriations and Space committees, asked for this addition to the amount voted by the House.

Both the Senate and House previously slashed President Johnson's initial space budget request of $5.1 billion by $234 million in a prior authorization measure. The House cut another $282 million in the separate money bill.

Although President Johnson—pushing for congressional approval of his tax increase—announced he would accept the second cut, the Senate Appropriations panel restored the $95.5 million for future space programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., lost, after hours of angry debate, an effort to slash additional funding for the super-sonic jet transport or SST from $143 million to $11 million.

Congress previously has supplied $511 million to build two prototypes of these high commercial airliners, planned to carry 280 passengers at high speed and altitudes over the oceans.

Proxmire said the aviation industry—no taxpayers—should finance this costly venture, adding that only the jet set would use them if they ever are built.

Fulbright teamed with Proxmire as did Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, put his country into the super-sonic race with the Soviet Union's TU-144 and the Concorde, sponsored jointly by England and France.

State Wants Center for Crime War

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A campaign has been started to have Arkansas designated as a regional center for the National Crime Information Center network.

State Police Director Lynn A. Davis, who announced the move, said Thursday Arkansas would be part of a six-state region in the national network and that Austin, Tex., had been selected only tentatively to be regional headquarters.

Final decision would be made after a study by a group that will visit the six states, Davis said.

He said the State Police and the Revenue Department had underway a cooperative program for joint use of computer, stored and relayed information on criminals.

Arkansas' computer equipment is further advanced than that in use at Austin, Davis said.

Johnson in Trouble on Home Front

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's domestic program is in deep trouble in Congress—trouble that can be traced to several sources.

There is general agreement that a major cause of the problem is growing concern among voters over the war in Vietnam, the prospect of higher taxes, rioting in cities and the cost of living.

Members of Congress, particularly in the House, are getting more mail than normally. Frequent recesses and long week-ends have given them more time to go home and rub elbows with the people.

The message is coming through.

"The people are frustrated," a top House Democrat said. "They are unhappy and it's getting worse. They wonder why we don't do something about it and if we don't, they might do something about us in next year's elections."

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma summed it up this way: "We (the Democrats) just don't have the votes we had last year when the President's program fared very well. We lost 47 seats in last year's elections. Another factor is the growing concern of the people over the fiscal situation and the war in Vietnam. We just can't move as fast this year as we did last year."

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference composed of all 186 GOP members, agreed with Albert's appraisal of how the voters are feeling.

"But the fact remains," Laird added, "that the Democrats still have a majority. It's not our fault that they don't vote together. I believe that lack of leadership on the part of the President is a major cause of the slowdown. The president should establish priorities, keeping in mind the war in Vietnam. Then we could vote on them and get out of here."

A leading Senate Democrat who preferred anonymity put it this way: "The session has dragged out longer than we had planned because of several factors that hadn't been counted on. Several months were used up on the congressional reorganization bill. The Dodd censure case took up a lot of time. Almost two months were used up debating the campaign financing bill. And then there has been the almost daily long discussions of Vietnam policy."

The Senate-passed congressional reorganization bill is one of the major measures in trouble in the House. There have been committee hearings but no definite action is sighted. The bill isn't too popular with the leadership.

Another Senate-passed measure, a $4.6 billion two-year extension of the antipoverty program, is almost hopelessly bogged down in the House Education and Labor Committee. It may be weeks or months before the House gets a crack at it. And it almost certainly will be trimmed.
